The fastest growing market for food & hospitality in the GCC

Ensure your presence in the Kingdom's longest established food & hospitality event

Saudi Arabia continues to be the single-largest market for food and beverages in the Gulf, accounting for 63% of all of the region's imports. The value of the Saudi Halal food market alone is estimated at US$ 6 billion annually.

With a 23 million population, estimated to grow to 50 million over the next decade, there are innumerable opportunities for a host of businesses in the food, catering, hotel and hospitality industry.

In addition, nearly 7 million foreign residents and more than 5 million visiting pilgrims annually are seeking diversified, and quality products. Consumers have become more selective in terms of nutritional value, quality, price, and packaging.

Saudi Arabia is keeping pace with meeting the needs of its fast growing population by importing annually US$ 20 billion worth of food and beverages from over 200 countries and even working toward providing food security by leasing agricultural lands in many countries. Saudi Arabia's agri-food and seafood imports now account for over 15% of its imports.

The Kingdom's tourism revenue is expected to jump to a whopping US$ 60 billion by 2019. This will mean more hotels, furnished apartments and leisure resorts. With a thriving hospitality industry, hotel and catering related services are due to undergo unprecedented growth.

The annual food, hotel & hospitality arabia, in its 18th successful edition, held in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia's commercial and leisure hub, is the Kingdom's national showcase and the region's international forum for worldwide suppliers to present their products and services to the broadest spectrum of high-profile trade visitors from throughout the Kingdom and neighbouring Gulf states.

food & beverages

Saudi Arabia - the highest potential market in the Gulf for new products and services

New foods, flavours, ingredients, additives, choices and needs are cropping up fast and are being met equally fast by restaurants, supermarkets, food outlets and catering.

profile

This list is not definitive and is intended only as a guide to prospective exhibitors.

Saudi Arabia's fast food market is expected to reach a value of US$ 4.5 billion in the next three years, driven by high demand among young, affluent citizens. The packaged food market is expected to grow to US$ 21.7 billion by 2014 and sales rising by around 5% annually.

The relatively young and educated population in the Kingdom is increasingly health conscious, embracing health and dietary foods and beverages; a market growing at nearly 12% a year.

Saudi Arabia also has an expanding food processing industry, which relies mostly on imported raw materials. This has prompted many international companies to set up licensing agreements with local manufacturers in Saudi Arabia, to produce their brands.

Across all areas of the food market, growth is due to continue to serve the widening demand of the domestic market and its burgeoning population. Suppliers able to provide these needs have the perfect opportunity to take advantage of food arabia to meet and conduct business with Saudi manufacturers, agents and distributors.

hotel & hospitality

Sky is the limit for the hotel, hospitality and catering industry to explore opportunities

The Kingdom's tourism market exceeds US$ 15 billion annually and expected to reach US$ 60 billion by 2019. The direct contribution of travel and tourism to Saudi Arabia's GDP is expected to reach US$ 14.9 billion.

Saudi Arabia's hotel and hospitality industry is set to grow with inbound travel that continues to increase, thanks to pilgrims and business visitors. As such the Kingdom is already witnessing a boom in the hotel and hospitality sector. Plans are being executed for increasing hotel rooms, furnished apartments, leisure resorts, restaurants and food outlets.

Mega tourism projects on the Red Sea coast, which will have a total of 557,000 rooms by 2015, provide a wave of opportunity for local and international suppliers alike.

Catering and event-related services are also on the rise as a maturing population hosts more weddings, festivals and national celebrations.

The massive investment in the creation of the colossal King Abdullah Economic City in Rabigh, near Jeddah, and other new economic cities will have state-of-the-art hotels and hospitality facilities. The government is currently looking to harness industry expertise from around the globe to maintain international standards.

Jeddah's hotel & hospitality arabia exhibition is an important ingredient in any marketing mix and is truly a unique platform for local and international exhibitors.

Visitor Promotion & Publicity Campaign

An extensive promotion and publicity campaign will be undertaken throughout Saudi Arabia and the neighbouring Gulf States. This will ensure the maximum number of high profile visitors.

The campaign will incorporate:

- Personal visits to all relevant Government departments and major industrial organisations.
- Direct fax, mail, sms and e-mail campaigns targeted at leading buyers, businessmen and professionals.
- Advertisements & supplements in supporting newspapers, specialist journals and on the Internet.
- Targeted invitations to manufacturers, chefs, consultants, specifiers, food & beverage managers, catering managers, traders, distributors, contractors and business entrepreneurs.
- Posters, banners, outdoor billboards and electronic sign displays.
- A series of workshops and demonstrations.

Top Chef and Art de Cable_

Two exciting visitor features of the food, hotel & hospitality arabia shows are the prominent Top Chef arabia contest and the Art de Cable competition.

Top Chef arabia

First staged during the 2002 edition, it now attracts so much interest that the contest is quickly oversubscribed with chefs eager to display their culinary skills for this coveted award whilst achieving press and public exposure for their hotel or restaurant.

In addition to the competitive sessions, each evening also includes themed cooking demonstrations that make this a unique gastronomic experience for visitors.

Art de Cable

Introduced in 2006, this competition delighted visitors with hotels and restaurants competing for the award of best table display.

Sponsorship Opportunities

Both events enjoy popular support and are ideal sponsorship opportunities;

Top Chef arabia is housed in a specially constructed auditorium and

An de Cable in a dedicated display area. The Top Chef competition, with its ancillary cooking demonstrations by leading chefs, offers tremendous promotional potential with its audience participation, prize contests, CCTV link throughout the venue and full media leads. Contact the organiser for details on participation and sponsorship packages.
